feirmeoir

By Michael Robinson

Object of the Game

Feirmeoir is a simulation of the Irish Potato famine in game form. The object of the game is to build the greatest family by accumulating the most points by the end of the game (or beating your previous single player high score). The year is 1844 and you are a young Irish couple. You have just been given your first plot of land as a wedding gift from your parents. There are many plots for sale, so be sure to pick the best spot! Your parents and neighbours can help you out by building your first two room Peat House, but from then on you are on your own. The nearby village will provide you with all you need to start your own farm, and hopefully a family. Make sure you prepare well, there is no telling what hardships await you!

Set Up

1) Take the 10 white "Basic" village cards and lay them out on the table
2) Create a Harvest Deck consisting of 6 Blue "Harvest" cards and 14 Black "Village" cards. Set one Harvest card aside and shuffle the 19 remaining cards together. Finally place the remaining Blue Harvest card on the bottom of the deck.
3) Each player gets 2 Peat House tiles and 10 Terrain Forrest/Peat tiles. You may make up your farm with these tiles in any configuration that you wish. Each tile must be adjacent to another tile and both house tiles must be adjacent to each other. The Forrest/Peat tiles may be flipped to any side you wish.
4) Deal each player a random hand of 10 Black "Home" cards and 4 Black "Village" cards.
5) Decide who will go first and begin the game!

A Game Round

1) Draw a card from the Harvest Deck and place it in the village. If it is a harvest card then resolve the Harvest
2) Play Cards: Each Player may play one card from their hand. Home cards stay next to a players farm and give individual bonuses. Village cards are played into the Village and may be used by anyone for the duration of the game.
3) Replenish any spaces that accumulate resources every turn
4) Taking Actions: In clockwise order players take turns placing their family member tokens on spaces in the Village. When a family member is placed on a space you take the action listed on that space. Each space can only be taken once.
5) Clean up: Once every family member has been played everyone retrieves their tokens and a new round begins.

Harvest

1) Take one token from each field that has Vegetables or Grains planted. Take two tokens from each field with Potatoes.

2) Breed Animals: If you have at least two of a particular kind of animal you receive one additional animal of the same type from the supply. You only receive one animal per species per breeding phase, even if you have 4 or 6 animals. At most you may receive one Cow, one Pig, and one Sheep per Harvest.

3) Feed the Family: Each family member consumes 2 food. Grains, and Vegetables may be eaten raw for 1 food each but animals and potatoes must be cooked. For each family member that cannot be fed you must either flip a family member over to the "sick" side or discard a family member (they may be sick or healthy your choice).

4) Heat the Home: Each room in the home requires one Fuel to heat (it does not matter if the room is occupied). Fuel cost can be paid with Peat or Wood tokens. Wood houses cost one less Fuel to heat, and Stone Houses cost two less fuel to heat regardless of their size. For every unheated room in your house you must either flip a family member over to the "sick" side or discard a family member (they may be sick or healthy your choice).

Note: Sick family members may only take one of two actions. They may be played on the "Ship to America" space and discarded or they may take the "Rest" action. Resting counts as their action for the turn and costs 2 food. Once they have rested they become healthy again and are flipped to the white side.

End of Game and Scoring

The game ends after the final Harvest in the Harvest Deck is resolved. The winner is the player with the most Victory Points. To calculate how many Victory Points your farm is worth consult the chart below:

Sheep: 1 Point each

Pigs: 2 Points each

Cows: 3 Points each

Grain: 1 Point each

Vegetable: 2 Points each

Potato: 1 Point each

Field: 1 Point each

Fence: 1 Point each

Peat House: 1 Point per Room

Wood House: 2 Points per Room

Stone House: 3 Points per Room

Family Members: 3 points per healthy member, 1 point per sick

Cards: Points as listed on the card

Your remaining Wood, Stone, Peat, and Food do not contribute to your final score.
